ABOUT ME

I am Anas El Addaoui, a 21-year-old IT enthusiast from Tangier, Morocco. I hold a diploma as a Specialist in Software Development and have completed the third year of a degree in Computer Engineering at ENSIT. In addition to developing web and desktop applications, I have gained experience working with systems, databases, and in analyzing and solving technical problems. I am currently enrolled in the preparatory program (VPLUS) at the University of Salzburg to further improve my German language skills.
